Complete Plans For Centennial

University Will Enjoy One Whole Week of Celebration Beginning With Arts and Science Banquet on February 19th and Extending Till Junior Play February 26th.

A full week's program, starting with the Arts and Science dinner on Saturday, February 19, and lasting until the Junior Play, which will be held the following Saturday, February 26, is being arranged by the Council of Junior Presidents and the various committees of the class. Such a complete program of celebration has been made possible through the merging of Junior Week and the centennial celebration. The University is planning to make this celebration one of the biggest events in the history of the school. The main events of the week are as follows:

Saturday, February 19—Arts and Science banquet at the Willard. Monday, February 21—The University dinner at Rauscher's. Tuesday, February 22—Convocation exercises in the Central High School auditorium, to be followed by a basketball game. Wednesday, February 23—The University reception to all alumni and students of George Washington University. Thursday, February 24—The Junior Prom, to be held at Rauscher's. Friday, February 25—Class mixers and entertainments at Lisner Hall. Saturday, February 26—The Junior Play, to be held in the Central High School auditorium.

The Arts and Science's banquet will be held at the Willard in the ballrooms Saturday night, February 19, at 8 p. m. Plans for this affair have been carried out by Walter C. Scott, Jr., Eng. '22, in the absence of Earl Shear, the elected chairman, who has been forced to remain at Providence Hospital for several weeks on account of illness. An excellent program has been arranged. Several of the fraternities and sororities will present acts, and attempts to secure a noted speaker are being made. Tickets are now on sale in all the departments of the school, at $5 apiece. The banquet will be informal.

The University dinner will be a formal affair and will be held at Rauscher's. A great gathering of alumni, trustees and friends of the University are expected to attend. Students are invited to attend this historical as well as traditionally attractive affair.

The mid-year convocation exercises will be held Tuesday, February 22, at 2:30 p. m., in the auditorium of Central High School. The speaker for the occasion has not yet been announced, but the rest of the program is prepared. The Academic Procession will be headed by the newly-elected senior marshals. More degrees than ever before presented at a mid-year convocation will be conferred upon the graduates of the University at this time. Following the convocation exercises a basketball game, with the Varsity team scheduled against a first-class opponent, is being planned. This probably will be held in one of the Central gymnasiums.

The University reception to all alumni, faculty, undergraduates and friends of the University will be tendered at Rauscher's Wednesday, February 23. More than 6,000 invitations have been sent out from the secretary's office and will reach graduates in all parts of the country. The fact that Rauscher's has been selected for this reception is an indication that it will surpass all former ones.

Thursday night, February 24, the Juniors will hold their Prom at Rauscher's. No efforts have been spared to make this Prom a memorable occasion in the history of the University. As in former years, boxes will be arranged by the fraternities, sororities and other organizations. Excellent music has been secured.

The climax of the week's events will occur Saturday night, February 26, when the Junior Play will be presented in the auditorium of Central High School. The cast has been selected, and frequent rehearsals have been held, so that a finished production is assured. Under the direction of Prof. Croissant, Clyde Fitch's four-act comedy, "The Truth," will be presented. To fill the Central High School auditorium a large crowd will be needed, and extra efforts will be put forth to have a large audience reward the players with their presence.

The fact that Centennial Week and Junior Week have been combined promises one of the most famous weeks in the history of the University. The success of all the events of the week depends largely upon the participation and cooperation of all the students of the University.

Elected to Council

The Student Council announces the election of Eunice Crabtree as representative from Teachers' College. Vacancies on the Council from Graduate and Pharmacy Schools have not been filled. Petitions for nomination may be given to any member of the Council.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS

The George Washington University Medical Society held its first meeting of the New Year on Saturday evening, January 15, at 8 p. m. in the hall of the Medical School Building. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Harold Lindsay Amos, M. S., M. D., D. P. H., of the staff of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Dr. Amos presented an excellent paper on "Lethargic Encephalitis," a form of brain fever, which was illustrated with fine motion pictures relating to the disease.

After the presentation of the paper, the society took up the matter of membership and after this was completed occupied the remainder of the evening with a very enjoyable smoker. The meeting, while well attended, could still have had a greater number of physicians present, and the society looks forward to an increase in the number present at the meetings to be held in the future.

JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEE COMPLETES ARRANGEMENTS

The Junior Prom Committee Tuesday evening, January 17, and completed plans for the Prom. The following subcommittees were appointed: Ticket Sales—J. Russell Mason (chairman), R. V. Jones, O. W. Osness, John C. McNab, Vivian Wooster. Music—Robert R. O'Dell (chairman), Robert L. Cramer, George Nordlinger.

Refreshments—Lois McDaris (chairman), A. L. Lanigan, Sarah E. Tilghyman.

Boxes and Decorations—George Neilsen (chairman), Alfred J. Connolly, Lawrence C. Hollis.

Programs—Paul C. Reed (chairman), Walter C. Scott, Jr.

Reception—Waldo A. Clark (chairman), Vivian Bradley, Helen Hadden.

The committee decided to have as patrons and patronesses only those who will be sufficiently interested to attend. Tickets will be on sale January 31, and the sale will close February 19. There are to be no complimentary tickets, except to the representatives of the four Washington papers.

The Prom will be advertised in the various Colleges of the University by posters designed and drawn by Frank C. Berryman, Jr.

From the plans and arrangements, this should be the biggest event of the school year. J. Fuller Spoor, Prom chairman, says it will be an event worthy and fitting as a celebration of the University's centennial week.

JUNIORS OF TEACHERS COLLEGE GIVE MIXER

A social mixer and "tea" was held from 4 to 7 p. m. Saturday, February 15, in the Woman's University Club rooms. More than 75 juniors attended the function. This was the first event of the year for the Junior Teachers' College.

A good number of the faculty were present. Dancing was enjoyed toward the end of the social, when several of the students showed a tendency toward that sort of amusement. To the surprise of many, some of the male students attending rolled up their sleeves and washed and wiped all the dishes, leaving the girls to look pretty and tell them how to do it.

DEAN WILBUR LECTURES BEFORE FACULTY CLUB

Meeting Marks Inauguration of the Idea of Having "Ladies' Night"; Evening Great Success.

"We are more like the Elizabethan than the Englishman himself, and Shakespeare's plays are more in tune with America today than with any other country." Such was the thought expressed Tuesday evening by Dean W. A. Wilbur, in an address on "New Interpretations of the Philosophy of Shakespeare" before the Faculty Club. Dean Wilbur, although hampered by a severe cold, gave a masterly reading on the philosophy of the Bard of Avon. His audience, composed of the faculty and their ladies, could not but be appreciative of his delightful interpretation of the poet who holds so high a place in literature, the study of whose works is pursued by countless students of English literature and of the drama.

Shakespeare's works are divided by most students of them into comedy, tragedy and Romance. It is from this latter class that Dean Wilbur drew the philosophy expressed in the poet's work. In "As You Like It" one of the characters expresses the desire to be invested in motley and allowed to speak his mind that the foul air of the infected world might be cleansed if they would but patiently accept his medicine. This play is followed by seven romances, in which Shakespeare attempts through the medium of his writing to impress a moral on the people.

The first play, "Troilus and Cressida," draws the lesson that the intellect, alone, is not sufficient to save man. "Measure for Measure" then discusses the sex problem, pointing out that purity of womanhood is not sufficient to save the world. "Titus Andronicus," with its Grecian art, is helpless, insufficient. These three have as their chief purpose humanity.

Chastity is emphasized in "Pericles." While the beauty of love, its importance in human life, how deeply affected all humanity is by it, are brought out in "Cymbeline." Then follows the magic of the stage in "Tempest." Shakespeare believed fully in the stage and in its power over the people. The last play discussed by Dean Wilbur was the "Winter's Tale," the keynote, Divine Providence.

In conclusion, Dean Wilbur spoke a few words on the conditions of today. The world is more or less topsy-turvy since the war, and men of science and of letters are trying to find a solution. They are seeking some way to bring men back to normal. The real way is to appeal to the spiritual quality in man. It is the spiritual side of man's

TO SPLIT PROCEEDS OF BENEFIT THREE WAYS

Columbian Women Will Divide Profit of Motion Picture for Endowment, Scholarship and Rooms.

The monthly meeting of Columbian Women of George Washington University was held Tuesday afternoon, January 14, at 4 o'clock in the alumni room of the new Law School Building at 1435 K Street Northwest.

Tickets for the motion picture benefit performance to be given at the Knickerbocker Theater Wednesday, February 2, were distributed and plans for its success were discussed. The proceeds of this benefit are to be divided among three funds of the University: The Columbian Women's Scholarship Fund, the Centennial Endowment Fund and the fund for rest rooms of the Law School.

The play to be given is Dickens' "Dombey and Son," and will be presented for the first time in Washington by Henry Irving, Jr.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Henry B. S. Macfarland gave a delightful reading of original poems. Refreshments were served by Miss Elizabeth Wilson.

The hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. T. M. Price, Miss Katherine Koetz, Mrs. Frank E. Edgington and the president, Miss Elizabeth Peet.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Walter C. Clephane. Those of you who witnessed that splendid benefit performance given two years ago will want to see this one too. It is your benefit, and Columbian Women are counting on your loyalty and your presence in helping to make it a complete success. Tickets are 50 cents and may be secured from Mrs. John Paul Earnest, 2123 N Street Northwest.

G. W. FIVE LOSES TO GEORGETOWN

Buff and Blue Suffers Two Defeats at Hands of Delaware College and Georgetown.

In a close, hard-fought game, George Washington University tilters were nosed out of a victory by the five representing Georgetown University. The game was played in the Ryan Gym at Georgetown Tuesday evening, January 18. When the final whistle blew Georgetown was on the long end of a 26-19 score.

The Hatchettes drew first blood, as Capt. Boteler scored within the first minute of play by way of the free-toss route. A few seconds later Daily, star guard, dribbled the entire length of the floor and passed to Springston, who caged the first floor basket. The floor hoopers of Zazzali and O'Connell put Georgetown in the lead, never to be headed by the Hatchettes, although the two teams were tied twice later in the game.

The game was exceedingly rough all the way, as 24 fouls were called during the game, and many others were overlooked by the officials. Twenty of these fouls were personal, and Flavin, Georgetown forward, and O'Connell, center, were removed from the game via the four personal fouls route. George Washington derived some benefit from the fouls, her opponent made, as Boteler caged 9 out of 12 attempts, while the combined efforts of his opponents netted only 2 out of 7 tries.

The Hilltoppers had the edge on the Hatchettes in shooting floor goals, but there was no choice between the passing game of the two teams. The first half ended in favor of Georgetown, 12-8.

The last 20-minute era witnessed some fast basketball, with honors divided about evenly. Within the last three minutes of the game Spear was substituted for Springston. At this point G. W. was penalized for having six men on the floor, thus giving G. U. its final point via the free-toss route.

Defeated by Delaware.

George Washington basketball players journeyed to Newark, Del., Saturday, January 15, and were defeated by the unbeaten Delaware College five by 35-20. At no time during the game after the first 15 minutes did the team have a ghost of a chance to win.

Spear, Brachlow, Hatcher, Daily and Capt. Boteler started for George Washington and within six minutes had the Delaware team stopped and were leading by 11-5.

Spear shot four baskets from the floor in the first six minutes of play, and Brachlow followed with another. Boteler's free toss accounted for the other point. After Referee Rabie got the idea of the strength of the George Washington team he got in some of the deadliest work ever seen on a basketball court.

The Hatchettes were literally stopped by the official and in the last five minutes of the first half fouls were called in such rapid succession that with two field goals, Delaware led at 15-11.

The second half was a ridiculous performance in officiating. The referee became so rabidly favorable to Delaware in penalizing the George Washington men that Delaware College spectators hollered from the galleries, "Give that team a chance."

In all, Referee Rabie ruined what might have been a first-class contest. In basket shooting the teams were evenly matched. The Delaware center, McCaughn, starred for his team. Twenty-five fouls were called on the George Washington team, and McCaughn made 13 chances good.

But nine fouls were called on the Delaware men, five in the first half and four in the second. The Hatchettes never were allowed to get possession of the ball, as a "held ball" was called almost every time a George Washington player gained undisputed possession and started a pass toward the basket.

The Delaware College team played as clean as George Washington. The players were fine, and the team received exceptionally nice treatment, save in the matter of officiating. No alibis are offered by the players or coach, as the teams were well matched on the floor and in playing ability.

PYRAMID HOLDS LUNCHEON.

At an informal luncheon held Monday, January 17, at St. Marks Cafe, the Pyramid Honor Society further discussed the question of a compulsory student activity tax.

The Inauguration

President-elect Warren G. Harding has expressed his desire to do away with the customary ceremonies attending his inauguration. Washington, therefore, is confronted with the problem of suitably celebrating the inauguration. There probably will be a parade which will be in the nature of a civic celebration, in which the District of Columbia will take part.

The Hatchet suggests the advisability of a George Washington unit or section in the inaugural parade if one is given. Every organization in the city probably will be called upon to furnish its quota for the parade. George Washington, thoroughly representative of the city, can well afford to back liberally the suggestion of having its students participate in the inauguration.

If such a section for George Washington students is decided upon, the students themselves should respond in numbers. There should be complete and thorough organization, arranged time enough before the parade to know that real results will be obtained in a showing of a large number.

On Basketball Backing

To date the basketball team has made a fine record, and there is reason to believe the team will perform creditably throughout the season. Some first-class games are in prospect. The team is doing its part. Practically every member of the squad, it is learned, gave up evening after evening during the Christmas holidays in order to attend practices. Whether or not the team is a winner is not the question when it comes to support. The real test comes to the players on the floor. The student body is expected to get behind the men who are representing the University in basketball, in the matter of attending games and giving the players the proper support and encouragement.

RADIO

University students will find this a most interesting study to take up. The Loomis Radio School is conducting night classes from 7 to 9 o'clock five nights in the week and preparing young men to pass the Government examination for the first grade commercial radio license. Those not interested in obtaining a license may take our short course, which will qualify them to receive the code at the rate of 15 to 20 words a minute and learn to operate a receiving apparatus. This will afford one the opportunity of pleasant and fascinating use of many a spare hour.

STUPID STEVE SAYS

A lawyer was conducting a case in court. One of the witnesses, a burley negro, confessed that at the time of his arrest he had been engaged in a crap game. The lawyer said: "Now, sir, I want you to tell the jury how you deal craps."

"What's dat?" said Sambo in surprise.

"Address the jury and tell them just how you deal craps," thundered the lawyer.

"Lemme outen heah!" cried the witness uneasily. "Fust thing you know, this gemmen gwine ask me how to drink a sandwich!"

ARMY AND NAVY PREP DEFEATS G. W. FRESHMEN

Brown, and Goldstein Star for G. W.; Calls Game Between Georgetown and G. W. Freshmen.

With the services of only two regular players, Goldstein and Brown, the George Washington freshmen were defeated by the strong Army and Navy Preps last Saturday afternoon, January 15, at the Preps' gym on Connecticut Avenue. The final score was 41-11.

The freshmen put up a very creditable showing, considering that the majority of them had reported for basketball only within the last week. Of the new material, Birmingham and Pond show a great deal of promise.

The Preps had a wonderful scoring combination in the personages of Wise, center, and Schapely, forward. The frosh strived valiantly to stop this pair, but they proved unstoppable, as between them they scored 37 of the 41 points the Preps managed to register. Brown and Goldstein starred for the losers. Goldstein is to be commended on his record of free tosses, as he made good 5 out of 7 tries. Both teams played good, clean basketball.

Harry Hawley, last year's captain of football and captain-elect of the 1921 football warriors, is the freshman basketball coach.

Summary:

G. W. U. (11).	Position	Preps (41).
Pond.....	R. F.....	Bealle
Birmingham.....	L. F.....	Schapely
Brown, F. W.....	C.....	Wise
Goldstein.....	R. G.....	Mahoney
Bowman.....	L. G.....	Gilmore

Substitutions—Black for Brown; Johnson for Bowman; Estep for Mahoney, Owers for Bealle. Floor goals—Birmingham, Brown (2), Schapely (9), Wise (8), Gilmore (2). Goals from foul—Goldstein, 5 out of 7; Schapely, 3 out of 6. Referee—Hughes. Time of halves, 15 minutes.

Georgetown Cancels Game.

The game that was scheduled to have been played between the freshmen representing the Universities of George Washington and Georgetown was canceled at the last moment by the Georgetown authorities.

The freshmen will play the Gallaudet Reserve team as a preliminary game to the George Washington-Gallaudet contest, which will be played Friday evening, January 21, at the Central Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue.

G. W. GIRLS' BASKETBALL LOSE TO GALLAUDET

The George Washington girls' basketball team got the little end of the score, 16-8, with Gallaudet Saturday, January 15. This was due to the poor work of the G. W. team. The centers played well, but received little cooperation from the others. There was exceedingly poor work by the forwards. They failed to make shots, even from under the basket, except in a few instances. Gallaudet showed excellent team work, and G. W. showed absolute lack of it, and no brain work. The guards played wildly and accomplished little against the splendid forwards of Gallaudet.

The line-up was as follows:

G. W. U.	Position	Gallaudet.
Woodford.....	R. F.....	LeClere
Webster.....	L. F.....	Sandberg
Duffies.....	R. G.....	F. Lewis
Gale.....	L. G.....	G. Lewis
Eckert.....	C.....	Lowell
Saunders.....	S. C.....	Mose

Substitute—Patterson for Saunders.
Referee—Miss Whitcomb.

LAW SCHOOL REVIEW

A great deal has been said and written about extra classroom activities. The Law School is not backward in this phase of school life, as is seen by the efforts in establishing a law journal, a review of the law school and law technicalities.

Last October the faculty of the Law School appointed a committee, consisting of Philbrick McCoy, '22 (chairman), Newell Ellison, '21, and H. C. Johnson, '21, to investigate the feasibility of the publication.

This committee met with the faculty December 18 and talked over the matter, with the result that the faculty thereupon resolved that "on condition that means for the proper financing of a Law School journal be provided, the faculty (a) recommends that the Board of Trustees approve the publication of such a Law School journal, and (b) that the faculty undertake to edit such a journal." This action was very encouraging to the committee, which immediately considered ways and means of procuring the proper financial backing.

The method adopted was a scheme for underwriting the publication so as to make sure, that even if the subscriptions did not come in as large numbers as desired, there still would be ample means with which to carry on the publication. Phi Delta Phi Legal fraternity has taken the lead in this, and the last report from those having the matter in charge shows that more than $100 so far has been subscribed. The plan then was presented to the faculty, and, with Dean Person leading the list, almost as much has been subscribed. Phi Delta Phi hopes to raise not less than $350 in this way, and it is the belief of the committee that the faculty will raise about $250. As soon as time permits, similar propositions will be put up to the Phi Alpha Delta Legal fraternity and also to the Phi Delta Delta and Kappa Beta Pi Legal Sororities. At present the campaign among the students in general is being confined to getting straight subscriptions, but if the committee later believes it would be warranted in so doing, the plan for underwriting the fund will be presented to the student body.

From the way subscriptions have been coming in from the students, it certainly looks as though there would be no trouble in financing the paper. Only two classes have been interviewed at this date. Section A of the Junior Class came across with 21 signers from a class of 23 and Section A of the first year class signed up to the extent of 26 from a class of 30. Both of these are morning sections, and it is hoped that they have set a pace which the rest of the school will keep.

While the committee hopes to be able to put out at least one number of the journal this year, this has not been definitely decided, since the Law School does not intend to publish a quarterly until it can do so in a creditable manner.

The committee will be glad to hear from any Columbian College students who later intend to enter the Law School in regard to subscriptions to the Law Review.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

George Washington University has arranged for six games of basketball thus far, through Ruth Reeves, manager of the girls' basketball team. Three games already have been played.

Girls' basketball is booming at the University now. Squads are working on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Epiphany Church gymnasium and Monday and Wednesday nights at the Western High School gymnasium. On Saturday nights the Business High School is in use by the G. W. U. girls.

The schedule yet to be played is as follows:

January 19—Temple College, here.
January 26—Swarthmore College, here.

March 5—Gallaudet, at home.

ARCHITECTS PLANNING TO GIVE PARTY FEB. 2

The regular monthly meeting of the Architectural Club was held in the Arts and Science Building Tuesday, January 18, 1921. The chief topic of discussion for the evening was the party to be given on February 2. It is desired to make this party distinctly characteristic of an architectural atelier. All of the members of the club are planning to appear in smocks and "tams," a costume distinctive of architectural and art students all over this country and Europe. The matter of purchasing smocks from a New York firm was discussed, but it was finally decided that as individuality is a desirable feature, each member would make his own smock and decorate it according to his own taste. (Mr. Nutt, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Muse were appointed as the committee to work out the details of the party.)

Another matter discussed was the question of lights in the drafting room. The architectural end of the drafting room is equipped with special lights, which the engineers are constantly detaching and carrying down to their end of the room. A committee consisting of Mr. Peterson, Mr. Norr and Miss Strother was appointed to see the dean of the Engineering School and try to find some way of remedying this matter.

Mr. Harris announced that the Washington chapter of the American Institute of Architecture has offered a prize of $50 to the Washington student showing the best year's work in beaux arts architecture. George Washington has won this prize a number of times in the past, and it is to be hoped that it can carry off the honors again. The award will be made some time this coming spring, possibly in May.

COMPLETE CLUB ROOMS FOR LAW DEPARTMENT

The club rooms at the Law School are now practically furnished. The men have a large room, done in red, with red hangings, red reading lamps, and the glow of the fireplace reflected in the brightly colored paintings on the wall. Comfortable lounging chairs and smoking stands and a thick velvet rug give a luxurious effect.

The women also have been well cared for. Their room is on the second floor, with a fine outlook on McPherson Square. The color scheme is yellow and black. Gold cloth curtains have been hung at the bay window, which also has a fine window seat made of black and colored chintz, with cushions to match. Two large wicker armchairs with chintz cushions and a couch covered with the same material make for comfort. A thick rug, two Windsor chairs and a most attractive mahogany table, with a smart table lamp with a gold shade complete the furnishings.

Probably one of the most disquieting features of the room is the ceiling-high mirror, which reflects almost every corner of the room. It is invaluable, of course. Other advantages are the fireplace and the prospective kitchenette in the adjoining room.

Mention should be made of the oil paintings and prints so kindly given by Mr. and Mrs. Hertle. Three most attractive scenes are in the girls' room and three in the men's lounge. The street scene in Holland was painted from a snapshot taken by Mr. Hertle.

It is planned to have an informal opening of the rooms in the near future. Mrs. Louise Hertle, the chairman of the committee in charge of furnishing these rooms, has been untiring and the same may be said of Mrs. Earnest and Mrs. Person and other members of the committee.

The contributions of the students for this purpose, which was about $400, has been more than doubled by the earnest efforts of the committee in soliciting funds from the friends of the University and the Law School. The very high cost of furniture has been difficult to overcome, but by most careful buying, the necessary articles for the comfort of the students have been secured.

nature that needs attention, was the opinion of Dean Wilbur, pointing out the beauty and depth of Shakespeare's play and recommending an earnest study of them, also expressing the belief that America is more nearly in tune with those ideals than any other country in the world.

The social evening of the Faculty Club was an agreeable success, which it is hoped will be repeated often.

Prof. Doyle is to be complimented on the manner in which he promoted the evening's pleasure; however, it is very well for him that women the world over are subject to flattery, else his statement that "the faculty furnish the brains and the ladies the beauty" would leave him today a wiser and sadder man.

Refreshments of the ice-cream and cake variety were much enjoyed, which verifies Homer's reflection that one touch of nature makes the whole world kin.

CYLINDER PRESSES

Among the Fraternities

THETA DELTA CHI.

Paul Mixer, who is Washington correspondent for the Detroit Free Press, has been appointed a member of the inaugural committee.

Earl C. Shea has been confined in the hospital for two weeks with bronchial trouble, but is on the road to recovery.

Congressman McLeod of Michigan, the youngest member of the House of Representatives, was recently the guest of Paul Mixer at the fraternity house.

Frank L. Buck, president of the grand lodge of Theta Delta Chi, will make his annual visitation of the charge on February 1.

Russell Lake, Law '22, has taken up horseback riding and can be seen most any morning parading the bridge paths of Rock Creek Park.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON.

Lauren Foreman, a member of the supreme council of the fraternity, was a recent visitor at the chapter house.
Wilbur Holleman of Oklahoma was the guest of the chapter last week.
Holleman is the next Rhodes scholar from Oklahoma.

Bill Norris, responsible for all of the chapter's splendid dances during the school year, is now planning a surprise for the Founders' Day banquet, to be held soon.

Leslie B. Young was the delegate from Washington City Rho chapter to the national convention held at Planter's Hotel in St. Louis on December 28, 29 and 30.

Mr. Young was a member of a committee on the national laws, which submitted a plan of reorganization of the fraternity. This was adopted and marks the greatest step in international development in the last 30 years.

The fraternity is planning to erect a building to the memory of the brothers who gave their lives in the world war.
This is to be erected at Evanston, Ill., the national headquarters.

Maj. Gen. Harry Jervay, Assistant Chief of Staff of the Army, was elected to the highest honorary position in the fraternity.

SIGMA NU.

All of the chapters of the Sigma Nu fraternity throughout the country are mourning the loss of Brother Greenfield Quarles, who was the only surviving founder of the fraternity.

Donald S. Bartlett, who attended the University last year, has just recently recovered from a long and serious illness at Spokane, Wash. He has now returned to New York, where he expects to continue his studies.

GAMMA DELTA RHO.

Miss Verna Short and Miss Marion Holliday were hostesses to Gamma Delta Rho at a tea at their home, 1329
Belmont Street, January 9.

Several members of Gamma Delta Rho assisted in serving the "Ladies' night" of the Faculty Club Tuesday, January 18.

THETA LAMBDA SIGMA.

Vera Johnson and Isabel Oldfield were hostesses at tea at the apartment of the latter at the Dresden Tuesday, January 11, to the members and patronesses of the chapter.

KAPPA BETA PI.

Sara Tilghman spent the Christmas holidays at her home in Baltimore.

Marion Holliday and Olive Geiger attended the New Year's hop at Annapolis, Md.

Etta Taggart, with her mother, was the guest of her brother-in-law, Lieut.
Commander Lankey Bacon, in Philadelphia during the holidays.

PHI DELTA DELTA.

Zeta chapter of Phi Delta Delta entertained last week the visiting grand secretary of the sorority, Miss M.
Eleanor Mack of Los Angeles, Calif.
Miss Laura Volstead, Law 1918, gave a reception at her home in Miss Mack's honor. Miss Mack has just installed a chapter at the University of Kansas enroute to the East and expects to visit several chapters in the East. Miss Mack is a prominent member of the California bar.

PHI SIGMA.

The chapter gave a party on Wednesday evening, January 19. A number of guests were present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

KAPPA SIGMA.

Einer Deiserude, formerly of the George Washington chapter of Kappa Sigma, has been stationed in Norway in the diplomatic corps of the United States Government for a considerable length of time. Mr. Deiserude has now received a commission in the consular service which will require him to make his residence in Paris.

Alpha Eta Chapter announces the initiation of the following pledges:
Charles Warren Holiday, Joseph Houghton, Charles Tucker, Noble Johnson and Harold E. Rhame.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON.

The chapter held its annual Christmas dance at 2400 Sixteenth Street on Thursday, December 23. It was a very successful dance and enjoyed by all attending.

On New Year's Eve an informal dance was held at the chapter house.
The dance extended into the wee small hours of New Year's Day.

Brother Oliver Wendell Holmes, formerly a student of Columbian College, was a visitor at the chapter house during the holiday season. He is now employed in New York city.

Brother Verne Simmons, of the Law School, who has been ill and has been confined to the University Hospital, is now on the road to recovery and expects to be out in a couple of weeks.

Alpha chapter is planning its annual "Amen" dance, held immediately after exams. It will be held at the chapter house.

CHI OMEGA.

Chi Omega gave a tea dance on New Year's Day at the Sigma Nu house.

Fifteen children from St. John's Orphan Asylum were given a Christmas party by Phi Alpha chapter on Wednesday after Christmas. Each child was given a stocking filled with goodies, and the kiddies seemed to have the time of their lives.

Katherine Wilkey spent the holidays with her sister in Cleveland, Ohio.

Frances Weedon spent the holidays in New York and Annapolis.

Martha Dunham spent the New Year holidays in Annapolis.

BANQUET HELD BY WOMEN'S LEGAL CLUB

More than 50 women attended the Women's Legal Club banquet held at the Suffrage Club Thursday evening, January 13. Songs and games enlivened the dinner. Marion Holliday, acting as mistress of ceremonies, gave a brief talk, and then called upon Harriet Barbour, last year's president of the club, and Etta Taggart, present president, for speeches. Dorothy Johnston, vice president; Sarah Tilghman, secretary, and Fred Woodson, treasurer, spoke. Several freshman girls were called upon. Miss Taggart introduced Mrs. Thomas Lavery, wife of Prof. Lavery of the Law School, who was welcomed by the club.

Though the meeting was not open for business, it was moved and enthusiastically decided that the club will have a masquerade party at one of the fraternity houses shortly after the mid-year examinations.

GODFREY'S TALK ILLUSTRATED BY TWO REELS OF MOVIES

After an unusually good supper, served by the Sphinx, in the rooms of the Women's University Club, the Engineering Society met Monday, January 10, and heard Mr. Godfrey, a member of the society, speak on "Telephony." He discussed the problems of construction and installation presented in this field and also various new designs of city and rural exchanges.
These, he told the society, are now being experimented at the Bureau of Standards.

The methods used and the work done in the machine shops were clearly illustrated in a two-reel moving picture, which followed Mr. Godfrey's talk.
